AMERICA IN GRIP OF LIGHT THOUGHT

Phil C. Baird, Oklahoma City Minister, Longs for the Old U. S.

A plea for more thinking, for a plain concept of plain living, for the plain people of yesterday and the wholesomeness of their ideals that admitted none of what he termed the deplorable tendencies of a modern generation traveling toward the same goal of self destruction, formed the theme for the address delivered last night before the fifteenth annual banquet of the Brotherhood class of the First Presbyterian church by Dr. Phil C. Baird of the First Presbyterian church of Oklahoma City. The perverted ideals of young people, the desire to get away from home, as it used to be, the center of the family world for parents as well as children and to the growing away from the basic principles of discipline as our forefathers understood them. Doctor Baird attributed the apparent preference of this age for the sensualities of the frivolous, the worth of rather than the simple modes of thinking and living of the past few generations.

The girl failed to give any reason for her leaving home except that she craved some excitement her father said he knew of no reason why she should leave.

by giving their full support to the university. No school with a half century of fine traditions and spiritual achievement, with whom the development will be allowed to fall.

Miss Alice Robertson, associated with and largely responsible for its

With almost 20,000 Presbyterians alone, to say nothing of the friends of this institution belonging to other denominations, the influence of Tulsa's great wellspring of Christian teaching can never be known what is known in all vernacular as a cluster.

The yield from this great enterprise, unlike those of a commercial character, will increase with the years.
